The rooms are depicted with various window patterns, some solid black, and some with cross-hatching. A staircase is visible on the far left. The right portion of the drawing shows a different section of the building, characterized by a large central entrance area with a prominent horizontal beam. This section also features multiple floors with rooms and windows. The drawing includes labels for 'Roof Run' at the top right and 'Roof Run' in the middle right. The overall style is a technical line drawing with hatching used for shading and material differentiation.
