Diagram illustrating a closed-loop solar water heating system. The system components and flow are as follows:

- Storage Tank: Located at the top, it contains a heating element and a tempering valve. It has a cold water inlet at the top and a hot water outlet. A storage tank drain valve is also present.
- Solar Collector: Located at the bottom, it consists of an upper header and a lower header. It is connected to a pump and a shut-off valve.
- Pump: Circulates water between the storage tank and the solar collector.
- Perforator Pipe: Connects the upper header of the solar collector to the storage tank.
- Flow: Cold water enters the storage tank, is heated by the heating element, and circulates through the system to the solar collector and back.

Prepared from the registers named on the page each finding sits on. Where a register could not be read, this document says so in its place rather than leaving the gap to be read as a clean result.
